Business Men for Cleveland.

An Unparalled Turnout to Greet the Governor—Thousands Upon Thousands Wild With Enthusiasm.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—The business men's meeting at the Academy of Music was a complete success. The building was jammed within 10 minutes from the time of the opening of the door. Thousands upon Thousands of people gathered in the vicinity of the building to get a glimpse of Gov. Cleveland, who was expected. The usual pyrotechnic display on a magnified scale was held in the adjoining streets and the auditorium was tastefully decorated with flowers and bunting. Cheers for Cleveland and Hendricks were heard on all sides, the crowd being particularly demonstrative and enthusiastic. The stage was crowded with delegations from the various exchanges. Ex-Mayor Grace presided and speeches were made by Governor Wallace, of Connecticut, and H. W. Beecher.

During the speech of the latter, Gov. Cleveland was announced. His reception beggars description. Every person in the vast crowd rose to his feet and cheered and waved his handkerchief or hat as though out of his senses. Mr. Beecher appeared to be greatly affected by the enthusiasm. Gov. Cleveland came to the front of the stage and made several attempts to speak. He was not allowed to proceed for fully five minutes. At last he said:

CLEVELAND'S ADDRESS.

"Ladies and Gentlemen: I thank you for the kind reception and I am sure it is cause for congratulation that so many of the business men of this great metropolis have found season in the pending political struggle for united and earnest effort. It has been my firm belief that one reason we as a people do not enjoy to the utmost the advantages of our form of Government is found in the fact that our business men are apt to neglect their political duties. The idea is too common among them that there is a heroism and a virtue in refusing to hold office, and the stern denial of any interest in politics seems to be regarded by many of this class as the best asseveration of their private virtue and business integrity. The protection and safety of the interest they have in charge are closely connected with a wise administration of the government, and it has always seemed to me that if a regard for their duty as citizens did not impel them to take a more active interest in political affairs, the desire and need of self-preservation would do so. I believe, too, that the best administration of the government is accomplished when it is conducted on business principles, and it is quite apparent that the active participation of our business men in the political campaign is an affective mode of impressing the principals upon the management of public affairs.

"I construe this large and enthusiastic meeting as the determination on the part of the business men, from which it had its rise, as the promise of a time when they shall find the path of duty, as well as interest, in a practical and intelligent interference with political questions and issues."

A LETTER FROM TILDEN.

Uproarous applause punctuated the governor's speech. At every period the cheers were deafening. A letter was read from Samuel J. Tilden regretting that his health prevented his attendance. He says:

"I remember gratefully that when it was my duty as governor to engage in a grapple with the canal ring which then swayed all the administrative, legislative and judicial departments of the state and a majority of the local organizations of the democratic party and of the orginizations of the republican party at the New York produce exchange rallied to my support and stood by my side until that gigantic power was completely overthrown.

"I concur in your opinion that the election of Cleveland and Hendricks is demanded by the best interests of the country. I believe that their election will be a substantial victory for the cause of good government and that it will assure us a safe and prudent administration of the chief magistracy of the public in our relations with other countries and that it will restore simplicity and economy in the needs of the federal government. So far that result depends upon the executive, for it will give business men immunity from sudden changes of policy and enable them to respond under the shelter of a stable administrative system, free from favoritism to particular classes and interests and from the injurious fluctuations to which such favoritism and sudden changes always lead.

(Signed) SAMUEL J. TILDEN.

KELLY CALLS ON CLEVELAND.

Governor Cleveland was escorted from the Fifth avenue hotel to the Academy by a committee of members of the different exchanges. He was cheered all along the route. The crowd almost prevented the passage of carriages. Such a rush is rarely seen, even in New York. On his return to the hotel the governor was visited by John Kelly, General Spinola and Senator Cullen of Tammany Hall. Mr. Kelly assured him of the sincere support of Tammany. The governor afterward reviewed from the porch a procession from the fourteenth and other districts which occupied over half an hour in passing.

Hensel Issues an Address.

The Promising Out-look—Timely Words of Interest to the People.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 16.—Chairman Hensel, of the democratic state committee, has issued the following address:

To the Democratic and Independent Voters of Pennsylvania: As the returns from the October election become more complete the magnitude of the victory achieved by the friends of good government is apparent. The discomfiture of our opponents is manifest. In Ohio the republican majority is cut down to one half of that of the corresponding election of 1880, and the democrats have elected more than half the congressional delegation.

In Virginia, where Blaine's henchmen had boasted that a republican victory was "a mere matter of finance," the democrats have won an unprecedented majority over a fusion of all opposition. The elections thus far held show republican losses and democratic gains in Alabama, Arkansas, Vermont, Georgia, West Virginia and Ohio. In Maine alone by the greatest effort and through the debauchery of the ballot-box, has Blaine been able to bring any comfort to his party.

Whatever the republicans have secured for their candidate has been only by the most desperate contest his party ever made by the degradation of his own candidacy and the prostitution of the civil service and the expenditure of vast sums of money, all concentrated by turns on a single state. Henceforth the enemies of administrative reform must confront a different situation. The battle lines are now formed on a field that stretches across the entire country. An harmonious and aggressive organization in New York, Indiana, New Jersey and Connecticut, assures the electoral votes of these states for Cleveland and Hendricks, and secures their election beyond doubt. In California, Nevada, Wisconsin, Michigan, Illinois and Massachusetts, our friends make hopeful battle.

It remains for the democracy of Pennsylvania and all the friends of better public methods to strenghten the cause by ceaseless efforts in our own state. From this time until election day the democrats and their allies in Pennsylvania must be vigilant and untiring to elect the electoral, congressional, legislative and local tickets which represent the couse of good government. Its friends have every incentive to push forward to the victory which certainly awaits them on the 4th of November.

Let there be no laggards in the ranks. Forward along the whole line.

W. U. HENSEL,
Chairman of the Democratic State Committee.

While a New Jersey ferry-boat was crossing the river, the other morning, there was a booming of a cannon, which caused many of the people to rush to the windows.

'I shouldn't think people would jump up for such a little thing as that,' said an old lady to some one who was with her.

'I shouldn't think so, either,' was the response.

Then her little boy spoke.

'I've seen a smaller thing than that make a man jump up.

'What was it?' asked the old lady.

'A carpet-tack,' replied the boy, as he moved off a respectable distance to get out of reach.—Puck.

PRESIDENT

AND

VICE PRESIDENT.

A LUCKY DISCOVERY.

"And so Miss Dorinda Beam is dead an' buried!"

"Yes, an' hain't left no will—that's the wust of it."

Mrs. Grimes stopped churning to listen to the news brought by Neighbor Hockins.

"You don't say!"

"It's so," declared Neighbor Hockins, emphatically.

"Beuly Bittersweet won't get nothin' after all, then," observed Mrs. Grimes, lifting the churn-lid to see if the butter was coming.

"Not a stiver. An' her allus brought up to think she'd git it all."

"'Tis too bad. I reckin Peter Fogg an' his woman'll come in fur the proppity, then?"

"Course they will, bein' they're the nighest of kin. All the kin-folks she hed, I reckin, fur her an' Beuly wasn't no ways related."

"I shouldn't think Miss Dorindy'd sleep quiet in her grave, with them Foggs a-handling of her things. She hated 'em like pizon while she was alive," remarked Mrs. Grimes.

"She hadn't ort to put off makin' her will then. But that's allus the way—folks keeps a-putting off an' a-puttin' off, a thinkin' they're goin' to live forever, an' then all at once they're gone 'fore they know it. An' then it's too late. Miss Dorindy died awful suddint, they say—appellexy or the like. I dunno what Beuly is a-goin' to do, I'm sure."

And indeed poor Beulah herself scarcely knew what she was going to do.

"Everything here will be yours, Beulah, when I'm dead and gone," Miss Dorinda had often declared. "That miserly Peter Fogg an' his stingy wife won't get a stick or a stone of what belongs to me! I kin tell him, if he is my nephew."

And now Miss Dorinda was dead and gone, sure enough, and Peter Fogg and his "stingy wife" were the heirs at law.

The place had been thoroughly searched for a will, but none could be found, and Lawyer Green, who attended to all Miss Dorinda's affairs, declared that he had not been called upon to make any will; and so poor Beulah was left penniless and alone in the great world.

One year ago, Beulah was the promised wife of Richard Barrymore, a stalwart young farmer, who lived with his mother in the old homestead, with its green orchard trees, its meadows of sweet grass, and its waving fields of wheat and corn.

But Beulah was young and giddy, and when the new physician, Dr. Clarence Verden, began to pay lover-like attentions to her, Richard grew jealous, a quarrel ensued, and a broken engagement was the upshot of the matter.

Since that time, Dr. Vivian had continued his attentions, until Miss Dorinda's death occurred, and Beulah's unfortunate position was made public.

Then his visits suddenly ceased, and he found it convenient to "pass by on the other side."

A week later, Mr. Fogg and wife came to take possession.

He was a hard-featured, miserly man and she a sharp-nosed, avaricious woman.

"The ole woman hed a heap o' plunder" remarked Peter, as he went lumbering through the parlors with his heavy cowhide boots. "That there pie-annor won't be here long, though, nor them pictors on the wall!" he declared, eyeing the articles named with a calculating gaze. "I reckin they'll fetch a right smart sum o' money at the auction-rooms, an' I'll cart 'em off an' sell 'em."

"There's a hull trunk full o' the ole woman's good clo'se," put in Mrs. Peter who had been exploring the upper rooms. "You mout as well cart them off, an' sell 'em, too, Peter. I kaint wear 'em."

"Course you caint," said Peter, gruffly. "What do you want of any more clo'se, anyhow? Them you've got on your back is good enough fur anybody."

Shocked and pained at their coarse remarks, Beulah went to her own room, to think over her plans for the future.

"You kin stay here, if you work fur your board," Mrs. Peter had informed her, but Beulah had declined the offer.

"I had rather beg my bread from door to door," she declared to herself, "than to stay with them. But where can I go?"

"Beuly!" called Mrs. Peter's sharp voice. "Come down—here's a feller wants to see you."

Beulah sprang up with flushed cheeks and sparkling eyes.

"Could it—could it be Doctor Virden?"

She caught her breath, her heart beat so violently with a sudden hope.

She hurried down with a pink flush, like the tinted heart of an ocean shell, staining her cheeks, to meet—Richard Barrymore.

He took her hands in a firm, gentle clasp.

"Get your things, Beulah. I have come to take you home with me. Mother has a room ready for you, and you are to live with us."

"Oh, Richard, I—I don't deserve it!" sobbed Beulah, remorsefully.

"Hush! Get your things," ordered Richard, authoritatively, "and let me carry out your trunk; my wagon is at the door."

And half reluctantly, though with a feeling of relief in her heart, Beulah allowed him to lift her into the wagon, where he had already placed her trunk, and they drove away.

Peter Fogg was as good as his word, and before many days he drove into town with his lumbering farm-wagon filled with the big piano, the handsome pictures, and Aunt Dorinda's trunk, containing her "best clothes."

* * * * * *

The honeysuckle and madeira vines clustering about the old Barrymore farm-house were full of bloom, and the scented petals of a tall cinnamon rose-bush were dropping lightly on Beulah's nut-brown curls, as she sat on the south porch with a basket of yellow September peaches beside her.

"Dick is so fond of peaches and cream," commented Bulah to herself, as she peeled and sliced the ripe, golden-hued fruit. "He shall have them every day while they last."

Just then the sound of wagon-wheels was heard in the lane.

"What on airth is that Richard's got in the wagon?" asked Mrs. Barrymore, coming out on the porch just as the wagon came in view. "Kin you make out what 'tis, Beuly? Your eyes are better'n mine air."

Beulah shaded her eyes with her hands and looked again.

"It—it looks like a big box," she said, doubtfully.

And so it was a big box, with a piano inside of it. There was another box, also, filled with pictures, and a trunk.

Richard drove up to the door.

"I've brought you a present, Beulah!" he cried gaily. "The piano and and pictures we'll put in the parlor, and this trunk I'll just carry up to your room."

And calling Sim, the hired man they carried it up at once.

Beulah could only look her thanks, and then ran upstairs to hide her tears.

Half an hour later she came dancing down stairs, laughing and crying together.

"Oh, Dick! Oh, Aunt Laura!" she cried, hysterically. "There was a will after all; and here it is! It was in the bosom of Miss Dorinda's dress, between the lining and the outside. I thought I would hang up the clothes, to air them, after being shut up in the trunk, and just happened to feel this in the bosom of her silk dress. It was one she had not worn for a good while."

It proved to be a genuine will, made three years ago, in St. Louis, where Beulah and Miss Dorinda had spent a few weeks one summer.

This accounted for Lawyer Green having no knowledge of it.

Beulah was soon reinstated in her old home, and Peter Fogg and his wife, after refunding the money paid for the piano and other articles, went back to their farm, greatly chagrined at the unexpected turn of affairs.

"I wish the pesky trunk had of burnt up 'fore ever we went an' sold it," grumbled Peter.

In which unavailing wish Mrs. Peter coincided with him.

Among the visitors who soon flocked to congratulate Beulah on her good fortune, was Doctor Clarence Virden; but much to his discomfiture he was informed that "Miss Bittersweet was engaged."

And so she was, in more senses than one.

For when the first October frosts had crimsoned the trailing ivy-leaves and turned the sumac and sassafras-leaves to scarlet and gold, Beulah Bittersweet was transformed into Mrs. Richard Barrymore.

PAYING CATTLE RANCHES.

Possessions of a Cattle King in the West.

Wonderful Success of a Young Frenchman in an Immense Industry.

A Miles City, Montana, letter to the New York Times tells about the thriving cattle trade of the northwest. The writer says:

The Marquis de Mores is a great cattle king of this region, and besides having a large amount of capital ready at hand to invest in ranches, cattle, sheep, or horses, as the fancy strikes him, is the possessor of an unusual amount of nerve, good sense, and pluck, to back up whatever he undertakes to do. He is the son-in-law of Baron von Hoffman, who is now in Miles City making arrangements for the building of slaughter and cold storage houses here. The Marquis is not more than 26 years of age, and first landed on our shore in August, 1882 in the city of New York. Before long he became attracted by the stories of the new country along the Northern Pacific Railroad, and came out to inspect for himself. The prospect pleased him, and he bought six square miles of land where the Northern Pacific crosses the Little Missouri River. Here he laid the foundations of a city. The new metropolis was pitched in the very worst spot on the North American continent—so many wise men said—in the midst of bad lands and extinct volcanoes; a country always shunned by the red men, and said, by people who knew all about it, to be unfit for agriculture, grazing, or anything else. Notwithstanding the warnings and predictions of disaster which were gratuitously poured in from all sides for his benefit, the Marquis went right on with the work he had mapped out. On April 1, 1883, he pitched a tent on the banks of the Little Muddy, which was the commencement of building operations. He broke a bottle of wine over the canvass house and iron tent pins that held it in place and christened the the embryo city Medora, in honor of his wife. Herds of cattle and flocks of sheep were purchased, and cowboys were employed to mind them. The Marquis turned his animals loose among the bad lands to pick up a living as best they could, sent for his wife to come from her luxurious eastern home to the little wild western city named in her honor, settled down on one of his ranches hid away among the buttes in the midst of his new possessions, and soon became established as a cotton and wool grower.

The enterprising young Frenchman was secure from interference and molestation of any kind so long as he went about his business in his own peculiar style, without attaining success in any of his undertakings. Just as soon, however, as it begun to draw upon the bewildered minds of the astonished natives round about that the foreigner was not so crazy after all, but that he was in reality to make a fortune out of the bad lands and extinct volcanoes which they had considered worthless, there was a general uprising of the "terrors of the bad lands" and other big men of the country to try to put a stop to the bold proceeding. The Marquis was not to be frightened. Although his opponents, with a great deal of bluster, appeared in force and presented innumerable 16 pound Spencer rifles and other deadly weapons to scare him out of his wits and drive him from the country, he received them with the choicest language and the politest manner possible. He showed however, about as many deadly weapons—all nicely silver mounted—as the other fellows had, although not quite as heavy, and gave the impression that he was capable of defending his right and title to the land purchased by his own money. After one or two "terrors" had been killed and a couple more maimed he was allowed to stick, and he has stuck there ever since. Medora is now a thriving, bustling little town of nearly 1,000 inhabitants, has a real live newspaper called the Bad Lands Cowboy, with Mr. G. Packare, formerly of Chicago, editor, and is destined before long to become one of the greatest points along the whole line of the Northern Pacific Railroad for the shipping of dressed beaves to Chicago.

The Marquis' original experiment has grown into a wonderful business of surprising magnitude. He has a dozen or more ranches scattered all through the bad lands; abattoirs have been built at Helena, Billings, Bullocks, Miles City, and Medora, and refrigerators at Portland, Mandam, Fargo, St. Paul, Brainerd, Duluth, Granger, and Winnipeg. The slaughter house now in erection at Medora will be when completed one of the largest of the kind in the world. It will be built entirely of brick, and will contain room for killing and cooling of 500 cattle a day. At present about 200 head are killed a day, and emdloyment is given to 150 men for that purpose. The business will be increased still further by the addition of glue factories, tanneries, and horn works, and by the investment of nearly $1,000,000 this year in sheep alone. Besides his sheep and cattle venture De Mores has 30,000 acres of wheat lands near Bismark, Dakota, and over 50,000 acres in the bad land, which are used for grazing purposes alone. He now contemplates the building of a dairy on a grand scale for the exportation of butter, cheese, etc., and is already engaged in transporting in refrigerator cars fresh salmon from Portland Oregon, to New York City. It is said that a carload of salmon costs $900 in Portland and sells for $3000 in New York. The total expenees in handling shipping, etc., are $1100, leaving a clear profit of $1000 per car. Taking his various ventures into account, the Marquis promises before many years to become one of the great millionaires of the country.

'Are you going to make your husband a Christmas-present this year?" inquired Mrs. Tibbs of her dear friend, Mrs. Sweet.

"I'm afraid not," responded Mrs. Sweet: "I was designing to, and had saved up quite a sum of money for that purpose; but I saw such a love of a bonnet at Jordan & Marsh's that I could not resist the temptation to buy it. I am afraid Mr. Sweet will have to go without his present. Shall you give Mr. Tibbs anything?"

"Oh, yes. I shall give him just a splendid present."

"Indeed! What is it to be?"

"I shall give him a box of those very expensive cigars of which he is so fond, and which he complains that he can so poorly afford to buy."

"How have you managed to save so much money?"

"Oh, I haven't done it that way. When he leaves his box carelessly on the library table, I take out one or two cigars and lay them away carefully, so that by Christmas I shall have enough to fill a box."

"What a perfectly lovely idea! Won't he be surprised?"—Boston Globe.

A Land Where There are no Elopements.

Elopements are not believed in in Lap land, for if a man marries a maid without her parents' consent the penalty is death. When a young man has formed an attachment to a female, the fashion is to appoint their friends to meet, to behold the young parties run a race together. The maid is allowed in starting the advantage of a third part of race, so that it is impossible, except willing of herself, that she should be overtaken. If a maid overruns her suitor the matter is ended; he must never have her, it being penal for the man to renew the motion for marriage. But if the virgin has an affection for him, though at first she runs hard to try the truth of his love, she will (without Atlanta's golden balls to retard her speed) pretend to meet some casuality, and voluntarily halt before she comes to the mark or end of the race. Thus none are compelled to marry against their wishes, and this is the cause that in this poor country the married people are richer in their contentment than in other lands, where so many forced matches make feigned love and cause real unhappiness.

Curtin for Congress.

At last the long-lived conference of the 20th congressional district came to an end and resulted in the nomination of two men for the same office. HON. A. G. CURTIN, of Centre and J. K. P. Hall of Elk, are the two candidates in the field, of whom of course only one can be elected. But that one certainly will be EX-GOV. CURTIN.

After moving from one place to another for several weeks, the conferees met at Bellefonte and there again displayed their stubbornness as they had done in foregoing sessions. The great trouble was that the candidates of Union, Clinton, Mifflin and Elk had chosen their own conferees and they were bound to stick to their man to the last. When the Centre and Clearfield conferees saw that there would be no end to the contemptible farce, they withdrew and nominated HON. A. G. CURTIN, thereby obeying the instructions which they had received from the people of their respective counties, by whom they were chosen for the work. The balance of the conference finally nominated J. K. P. Hall, of Elk. His chances for election to congress are about as good as Butler's for the presidency.

CURTIN is the candidate of the workingman and of the intelligent and impartial citizen in both parties in the district and he will be elected by an overwhelming majority. And so it should be. After the able and ardent work he has done in congress against monopolies and in the interest of labor, it is but natural that the people should send him back to congress to continue in his noble and truly unselfish course.

Centre and Clearfield without a doubt will give CURTIN their unanimous support, irrespective of party, and that alone will elect him by about 5000 majority. On the other hand, a large part of the labor vote of the other four counties will be for CURTIN.

The great mistake which the conferees of the candidates from Union, Clinton, Mifflin and Elk make in this matter is that they ignore the wishes of the greater bulk of democratic voters and working men in the district who will have their say at the polls by re-electing CURTIN to the office to which he is in all justice and honor entitled. The best and most graceful thing for Mr. Hall to do, under the circumstances, would be to withdraw from the contest and save himself the chagrin of defeat by his distinguished popular brother-nominee.

THE Republican plurality claimed in Ohio diminished so rapidly that the much boasted victory turns out to be in reality a defeat. The returns show a loss from the normal Republican strength of 10,000. Considering the desperate means resorted to in securing this meagre result, the thousands, of deputy marshals paid from the Federal Treasury to do partisan work, the enormous corruption fund of Gould and other Blaine followers and monopolists spent in Ohio, Democrats can enter the vital contest in November with fair prospects to win.

Attention, Democrats!

As the time for the election approaches we feel it our duty to urge the Democracy of this end of the county not to be indifferent to the important duty of voting for good men for the county offices. Do not indulge in trading nor permit others to trade, but vote the whole Democratic ticket even to the last office. The Democratic candidates for Assembly, Sheriff, Trearurer, Register, Recorder, Prothonotary and last but not least County Commissioners are eminently good men and will surely make good officials. They all have done good service in the past, politically as well as officially, and good servants deserve to be rewarded. Let us show our appreciation of their past labors by giving them our strong and undivided support. Remember our votes next Tuesday a week should be cast for Rhone and Woodward, Walker, Smith, McClain, Bible, Brett, Wolf and Griest, and no others.

MR. J. C. SMITH, of Lewisburg, one of the Union county congressional conferees, gave us a short call, with the object of enlisting our services for Mr. Hall, the other nominee for Congress. But we were compelled to decline his kind invitation, for we were for Curtin, are for Curtin, and will be for Curtin first, last and all the time.

MORE SOAP.—The delinquent government clerks received another hard squeeze to come down with the 'rocks' to carry on the campaign of the Republicans. It must be expensive to be a Republican office holder in these times.

THE republican plurality of 10,000 in Ohio, balanced by a democratic majority of nearly that much in West Virginia leaves not the ghost of a chance for Blaine in November. Like the Philadelphia Times has it, "We think Blaine is beaten!"

NEWSPAPER men are blamed for being experts in lying. Guess Blaine must have graduated in the business when he edited the Kennebec Journal, and he hasn't forgotten that branch of the art either.

A crank named Samuel Boone, of Elmira, who has been unsuccessfully soliciting a pardon for his brother-in-law, who is consigned in the Auburn prison for shooting a man in Chemung county a year ago assaulted Governor Cleveland last Monday and attempted to pummel him. He failed in his efforts and is now landed in jail and held for trial.

Curtin's Enthusiastic Supporters.

Special Dispatch to the TIMES.

CLEARFIELD, October 18.—A large and enthusiastic meeting of the citizens of Clearfield was held in the Court House last evening and many more came than the building would hold. Colonel Barrett made a statement to the meeting detailing the action of the conference and of the conferees of Clearfield county. A resolution was unanimously adopted, amid most intense excitement, declaring Governor Curtin the democratic nominee of the Twentieth Congressional district.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

From our Regular Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 20 1884.

The exceedingly slim majority in Republican Ohio, which is so satisfying to the Republican heart, is simply the foreboding of an utter rout of that party in New York in November. While it demonstrates to those who desire a change, the desperation of the men who would perpetuate a reign of corruption, it will intensify the struggle in New York and sweep the state like a whirlwind for Democracy and Reform. Such a shaking up as the Treasury leeches in Washington have had during the past three days has never been experienced in our political history, because the more than sixty thousand of these fellows feel morally certain that after the 4th of March next the places that know them now will know them no more forever. The aggressive campaign which Blaine and his crowd were to prosecute, has been transformed into one so exceedingly offensive that the defense has about relinquished the fight and given up. The demonstration by the business men of the great city of New York on Wednesday night last shows that in this tribute to Governor Cleveland there is a determination to overthrow the corrupt satrapy that the office-holding legion want to continue in control of the Government at Washington.

The campaign orators of the Republican party are showing that Cleveland's election is impossible, even should he carry New York with the Southern electoral vote. Well, nobody that I know of has attempted to prove that 189 votes were sufficient for an election, but we do insist that Governor Cleveland, besides New York, will have the fifteen votes of Indiana, the nine votes of New Jersey, the six votes of Connecticut to top out his electoral pyramid, to say nothing of the possibilities in California, in Wisconsin and Nevada, which will give him enough, with forty to spare. And the prospects are most flattering that just this state of things is going to transpire on the 4th of November.

PHONO.

To the Democracy of Clearfield and Centre Counties.

Owing to the peculiar political situation in this Congressional District, we deem it but fair to you, and to ourselves as the Representatives of the Democracy of Centre and Clearfield counties, to make a statement of the condition of affairs as we found them in this District, and to render to you an account of our stewardship.

The undersigned were appointed by the County Conventions of Clearfield and Centre, the representative bodies of the great Democratic party of said counties, as conferees, to represent our respective counties in the Democratic Congressional Conference of the Twentieth District of Pennsylvania, and instructed to use all honorable means to secure the re-nomination of ex GOV. CURTIN, our present distinguished and efficient member.--That we met the Conferees of Clinton, Elk, Union, and Mifflin counties in Lock Haven on the 25th of September, where an organization was effected.—That a motion was there made to go into secret session in one of the small rooms in the Court House. Your Conferees remembering the odium attached to the Star Chamber proceedings of the last Senatorial conference, and that innocent men of our counties were there smirched, refused to go into secret conclave, and demanded an open conference.—That we were voted down, the conferees of the other four counties adjourned to the Court House, where, after some deliberation the resolution was recinded. On the following day the full conference met in the Democratic Club Room Your conferees were there met by a delegation from the miners and working men of Houtzdale, Woodward township and vicinity, who presented their credentials and a copy of the proceedings of their convention and the following resolution, viz:

1. Resolved, That we, the miners and working men of Houtzdale, Woodward township and vicinity, will support no man for office who is not known to be friendly to the interests of the working men, and who will not support such measures as beneficially effect the laborer's interests.

2. Resolved, That whereas HON. A. G. CURTIN, our present representative in Congress from this Congressional District, has shown himself by his votes, speeches and course in Congress during the past four years to be the sincere and earnest friend of the working man, that we heartily endorse him and respectfully demand his return to Congress, and to that end we will vote and work for him to the exclusion of any other nominee.

3. Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be presented to the Democratic Congressional Conference, and that in the event of their failing to nominate HON. A. G. CURTIN then to present the same to the Republican Congressional Conference.

You will see by the above resolution the determination of the miners and working men to vote for ex GOV. CURTIN to the exclusion of any other nominee, The laboring vote of this district amounts to between six and eight thousand votes.—That to make a nomination antagonistic to the spirit of these resolutions would be suicidal to our party. We adjourned from Lock Haven to St. Mary's where delegates from the Miners and Laborers' Amalgamated Association appeared and presented a copy of the proceedings of their convention held at DuBois, and a resolution demanding the re-nomination of ex-GOV. CURTIN. To both of these appeals from organized labor the conferees of Elk, Clinton, Union and Mifflin turned a deaf ear.

It were worse than useless to follow the conference to the different places of meetings. Suffice it to say that throughout the entire district your conferees found but one sentiment. We have presented every phase of the case to the other conferees, hoping that they might resspect the wishes of the people of this district. They failed to do so. At Bellefonte resolutions were presented by the Cleveland and Hendricks Clubs of Osceola and Renovo, asking the re nomination of ex-GOV. CURTIN, with the same effect. Here it became patent to all that another adjournment would be forced and valuable time frittered away, and the party sent to the polls in November with no candidate. The iron hand of necessity was laid on your conferees, a Congressman at stake, and disorganization and disintegration staring us in the face. In view of all these facts, and many others which could be enumerated, there was but one resort for us representatives of the people of this district, viz: to withdraw from the conference, nominate GOV. CURTIN, and submit the case to the voters at the polls. This your conferees have done.

The result of it all is that your conferees, representing a majority of the Democratic voters, have made a nomination that voices the sentiment of the Democratic masses of the district. The conferees of Clinton, Elk, Union and Mifflin, representing a minority of the Democratic voters, bolted that nomination and put in the field Mr. Hall of Elk. Your conferees have no words of censure for their fellow-conferees from the other counties. We recognize the delicate position in which they were placed. Held firmly in the grasp of local candidates, whose single idea was the defeat of ex-GOV. CURTIN, a sense of honor compelled them to obey the behests of their candidates. We were treated with uniform courtesy by them, and by the people of all the counties in which our conference met, and we sincerely regret that anything of an unpleasant nature should have occured here. But we are not repsonsible for what we could not prevent. With you rests the final result.

BLAINE ARRAIGNED.

An Address to the Public by the National Democratic Committee.

THE RESULTS OF OCTOBER.

The Record of the Republican Candidate Severely Handled—The Outlook for November.

The following address has been issued from the headquarters of the National Democratic State Committee:

To the People of the United States:

The result of the elections on Tuesday last in the States of Ohio and West Virginia is before you. Ohio chose Republican electors in 1868, 1872, 1876 and 1880. West Virginia chose Republican Presidential electors in 1876 and 1880. Garfield obtained a plurality in Ohio in 1880 of 34 227 votes. The Republican candidate in the late election for Secretary of State was a gallant soldier and a reputable man. The vote of the Republican party in that election was broken down by the weight of Mr. Blaine, a factional seeker after the Presidency. The people then elected a Democratic majority of the Congressional delegation of the State. We may confidently expect a majority in Ohio for Cleveland and Hendricks in November.

West Virginia has by its splendid and decisive majority for a Democratic Governor at the October election already declared its purpose to give its electoral vote for our candidates in November.

HALF A MILLION USED IN OHIO.

The Blaine managers employed extraordinary methods in both States. They expended not less than five hundred thousand dollars in Ohio and more than one hundred thousand dollars in West Virginia in their political work. They did not use money only. They called from every State the office-holders best fitted to do the work at which they were put. They crowded these two States with such men. They employed in political jobs the men engaged in postal service of the United States. They left the veterans who had saved the life of the nation without the pay to which they were entitled, under the pretence of having an insufficient clerical force in the Pension Bureau, and then used the Commissioner of Pensions and a great number of his clerks as part of their political machinery in the late elections in Ohio and West Virginia. It has been openly charged, without denial, that the payment of veterans by the Commission of Pensions has been delayed by him with the purpose of coercing them to vote for Mr. Blaine. These abuses of political power have been committed under the overlooking eye of Mr. Blaine and with his full sanction. They show the manner in which, if he were elected, public offices would be subordinated to his personal service and the bounty of the country be made the means of advancing his personal interests. They made the Marshals of the United States and their deputies, who ought to be the guardians of the rights of every citizen of the United States, a part of their machine force. They armed them and incited them to violence and outrage. They expect to pay for the weapons and services of these men out of the Treasury of the United States. They made Mr. Blaine one of their country and ward workers in Ohio and West Virginia, and he entered with zest upon the familiar duties. They devised, with his knowledge, methods of compelling workmen to vote as their employers dictated. They kept him in daily association with the worst elements of their political organization. They made him their counsellor in every disreputable plan which they devised to promote his success. He could not have been a stranger to their purposes to make gains in Cincinnati at the election on Tuesday last by using armed Deputy Marshals and armed negroes to drive voters from the polls. The methods of their campaign in Ohio and West Virginia and the share of their candidate in those methods have added to the opprobrium already resting upon his name and have assured his defeat at the general election in November.

ATTACKING BLAINE'S RECORD.

Mr. Blaine has been a member of the House of Representatives, a Senator in Congress and a Secretary of State of the United States. He has been accused of corruptly using his influence as Speaker and as a member of the House of Representatives for his individual profit. This misconduct has been proved by his own letters. These have confronted him wherever he has gone. He has attempted no explanation. The phrases of these letters are so well known that they are by-words on the streets and jests upon the stage. A Speaker of the house of Representatives—a member of the House—who would barter his influence for money or property might avail himself of the larger opportunities which the office and powers of a President afford.

These are not words dictated by party rancor. They sum up the judgment of that independent press which is and always will remain the bulwark of good and constitutional government. They express the convictions of the leading Republican journals and the belief of those distinguished Republican statesmen and citizens whose love of country has forced them to declare that the nomination of Mr. Blaine was one not fit to be made.

This is reason for our confidence that we will achieve a victory in November. The army of office-holders engaged for a month past in the business of manipulating votes in Ohio and West Virginia must now disband. Each man of the number must go to his own place. The Commissioner of Pension and his bureau clerks cannot be concentrated for political uses, in the November elections. When they are acting individually in their several States they will be unable to do mischief. The Marshals of the United States, by reason of the powers which they exercise, may again do harm in Novemer. They ought to understand that for what they have done and for what they may do they will be hereafter held to the strictest account by a justly indignant people. The hopes of reward and the promises of indemnity which have been held out to them will not avail them in the days which are close at hand.

BLAINE AND THE CORPORATIONS.

The country is fully aroused. It is alarmed by the corrupt influences surrounding Mr. Blaine and will reject him as President. Mr. Blaine has grown rich. The men around him have grown rich. The speculators whom he has aided by framing laws to suit them are rich. The corporations which he has helped have monopolized the public lands. But trade is stagnant. The commerce of the country has decayed. Mills are standing idle. Where wages have not been stopped they have been reduced. Mechanics and laborers go about seeking employment in vain. Women and children are beginning to want bread, and yet the farmer can find no profitable market for the grain. These circumstances afford conclusive proof that a few interests have been cared for by the Republican managers at the expense of the interests of the great body of the people.

The creation in this favorite land of such extremes of wealth and poverty and the evil days which have overtaken all who are engaged in labor are not your fault. It has been and is the fault of those selfish men who use the powers which you gave them for their own advantage, leaving you to fare as best you can. It is for you to determine whether these evils shall continue and increase or diminish and end in a general prosperity shared in by all alike.

ORGANIZATION NECESSARY.

You have a right to expect that your party leaders, to whom you have given support and accorded honors in past years, will lay aside all differences and establish a lasting claim on your gratitude by making common cause in your supreme efforts to obtain the blessings of a good government. You will not be disappointed.

Remember that victory in November over the unscrupulous men who are now endeavoring to seize the Presidency can only be secured by your complete organization. When men are of one mind and want to impress their opinion upon the community in which they live they must stand together and work together. The highest and best organization of which men are capable is that in which every man wants to do that part of the common work which he can do and does it with all his might. Your organization ought to be of such nature and if they are, Governor Cleveland will be elected in November by an unparalleled majority.

—In last week's Reporter the Lutherans of Centre Hall issue a call for financial aid from their sister congregations in other towns. Those good people surely had many misfortunes with their church edifices, and their appeal for help should be heeded and liberally responded to.

THREE OLD STANDBYES.—George Confer, John Sanders and Sebastian Musser, three aged citizens of Penn township, expect to vote the Democratic ticket the 58th time at the coming election. ANOTHER OLD LANDMARK GONE.—On Monday, October 13th, 1884, Mr. Peter S. Bierly, one of Brushvalley's prominent and most esteemed citizens departed this life, having reached the age of 65 years, 2 months and 12 days. His family is one of the first that settled in the valley. Mr. Bierly purchased the old homestead and there spent his life. For the last four years of his life rheumatism caused him considerable trouble, to which was added a severe bruise which he received by a fall about a year ago. After much suffering he at last fell asleep in the hope of a blessed immortality. The remains were interred at the Union cemetery, at Rebersburg, on the 15th instant.

—OCTOBER is a good month for merchants to examine their stock of Dr. Kessler's Celebrated English Cough Medicine and include a winter's supply in their next order. The people have found out by experience that it can be relied on in all cases of croup, whooping cough, colds, and lung troubles of any nature, and will have it. A good article draws trade while worthless articles drive it away. It should be a source of satisfaction to a dealer as well, to know he is giving good honest value for money received. Money refunded to dissatisfied purchasers.

Penn Hall Shavings.

Plain Jack imposed some what upon JACK PLANE'S Shavings. But all right, Jack, we will return the compliment sometime; we know of your whereabouts.

Mr. John Weichric, a Mifflinburger, is here doing some trimming for F. Moyer & Son.

Mr. John Condo has returned home from his trip to Philadelphia and speaks well of the Electrical exhibition.

The boys are about to raise a Cleveland and Hendricks banner and will imprint upon it "Curtin and Victory." We want it understood that we will not go back on the old war horse. [That is speaking to the point and shows your head is level, Jack.—Ed.]

James Condo and Lute Musser were in the horse trading business one day last week. Wonder who got the best of the bargain.

On Sunday last quite a crowd gathered at the Evans Saw Mill Dam, to see the bridge builders put in the new bridge for the Railroad company.

Mr. Willis Evans and J. S. Meyer have returned home from their trip to Jefferson and Indiana counties, where they had gone to purchase colts. They brought along some very fine animals for their own use.

Maj. Fisher is back from the city, whither he had gone to purchase a stock of fall and winter goods.

Our farmers are busy husking corn and report a splendid crop. Mr. J. B. Heckman expects 2000 bushels from a 17 acre field which is indeed a very good yield. But it just takes Mr. Heckman to raise such crops. JACK PLANE.

—On Monday afternoon, Mr. H. Cook from Howard, was in town and rented D. A. Musser's lot, corner of Penn and Mill streets for the purpose of erecting a skating rink building, 40 by 100 feet in dimensions. John Royer has the contract for the construction of the building and work will begin at once.

—PETERSON'S MAGAZINE for November is on our table—ahead, as usual, of all others. How the publisher can afford to keep improving it, as he does, is a standing wonder. With this number appears the Prospectus for next year. It promises even better things, and "Peterson" always keeps his promises. There will be over 1,200 printed pages, 14 steel-engravings, 12 doubled-sized colored steel fashion-plates, 800 to 900 wood-cuts, six copyright novelets, one hundred smaller stories, etc., etc. In short, the magazine will continue to be, as heretofore, the cheapest and best for ladies. The terms are only TWO DOLLARS a year. To clubs it is cheaper still, viz: four copies for six dollars and a half, with and extra copy to the person getting up the club. Or five copies for eight dollars, with both an extra copy and the "Pearl of Price," a beautifully illustrated volume, or a large steel-engraving, "The Lion In Love." Everybody should take this magazine. Now is the time to subscribe. Address CHARLES J. PETERSON, 306 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa. Specimens are sent gratis, if written for, to get up clubs with.

—DRUGGISTS all report a rapid and steadily increasing demand for McDonald's Celebrated Worm Powders. There is no secret or trick about their popularity. It is solely because people have become convinced through trial or hearing their neighbors say that they are the best and easiest to take vermifuge ever produced. Nasty, sickening, old-fashioned worm syrups won't sell. People demand McDonald's Celebrated Worm Powders, and won't have anything else, hence their sales are greater than all the other vermifuges combined. Dissatisfied purchasers can have their money refunded.

Chronic Catarrh.

C. W. Mellier, of 406 South Fourth street, St. Louis, is twenty years of age, and has been a sufferer from chronic catarrh, which had become quite offensive. When he came to Dr. Hartman, two months ago, he was told it would take six months to cure him. But he has progressed beyond all expectations, and nearly all signs of the disease have disappeared. Before being treated he could not breathe out of the nose, and now he has perfect control of the nasal organ. PERUNA did the business.

James Dunn, of 1310 Gay street, St. Louis, has suffered from catarrh since 1870. The gentleman told the reporter the following straightforward story of his case. "I took the disease in Memphis. It commenced in my head and extended to my throat, and a bad cough followed. I went to a number of physicians, and they told me my trouble was liver disease, and one said it was palpitation of the heart that caused the cough. For the last year I have been practically worthless. I could not ascend a flight of stairs without suffering from shortness of breath and fast beating of the heart, and my appetite was very defective. After eating I often coughed so hard that I would throw up everything in my stomach. I could not walk any distance without panting. Five weeks ago I went under the care of Dr. Hartman. and now my cough has disappeared and I feel like a new man." PERUNA was his treatment.

Next came George Sauerbaum, residing at 1929 Carr street, St. Louis, who is an old patient of Dr. Hartman. He stated that he had suffered most intensely from chronic catarrh of the head and lungs, but is now almost cured, his lungs being entirely well and his head greatly improved. The gratitude of this gentleman was almost boundless, and he expressed it to the reporter in the strongest terms, saying "PERUNA will cure any disease."

I. P. Dukehart, of Cumberland, Md., superintendent B. & O. R. R. Co.'s Hotels (conductor on the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad for twenty-eight years, and previously a druggist), writes: "DR. S. B. HARTMAN & Co., Columbus, O. I have used but one bottle of PERUNA between myself and son. He had diptheretic sore throat, and is now well. As for myself, it has entirely relieved the dullness in my head, which has been of long standing—the result of chronic malaria. I never took anything in my life that gave me such great satisfaction. My wife is now taking it also."

America's Crown Jewels.

Few are aware that in the bond vaults of the Treasury are deposited for safe-keeping a large quantity of diamonds and other precious stones which will form the nucles of the crown jewels when the country becomes an empire. These gems all have histories. Among them is a bottle four or five inches long filled with diamonds, and there are many other kinds of precious stones. Some of them are set in gold ornaments, intended for personal wear. The first collection of which we have any authentic account has been in the custody of the Treasury officials for over forty-five years. They were sent to President Van Buren by the Imaum of Omanf whose capital city of Muscat, in Arabia, on the Persian Gulf, is the most widely known of all Arabian cities to outsiders. The Imaum was the dude politician of Arabia, the best dandy of all the Bedouin kin, and having found that Martin Van Buren was two-fold sharper, keener, subtler and dandier then he was himself he sent these diamonds and pearls to him as a tribute to superior genius and morality. It takes a pretty smart scoundrel to discount an Arab cutthroat of the higher classes, but the Dutch patron of Kinderhook could do it, and the Imauman of Oman allowed he could take the cake—and the diamonds, too. But after he took them he did not know what to do with them. He had an elephant on his hands. He could not accept them for himself, although he wanted to do so, as the Constitution expressly forebade any person connected with the Government accepting any present or decoration from any foreign power or potentate without express authority of Congress. This authority Congress would not give. In fact, it was inexpedient at that time to ask for it. So the jewels were finally turned over to the Treasury, where they are now.

But the Imaum's gift is not all. There are in the collection superb jewels received at other times and in various ways. Turquoises blue as Syrian summer skies; emerald like the reflection of Ireland's green turf in her crystal-waved lakes; rubies, oriental rubies, that flash a world of liquid crimson light till the eye grows dim with gazing; sapphire pearls as white as the foam of the sea, and opals that shimmer with resinous radiance as only the precious opal can—all these are there. There are many beautiful and many quaint ornaments, jewelled brooches and ring and sword hilts; be-diamonded creeses brought from the Malay Isles by Wilkes and lots of other rare and valuable trinkets. They have no definite owners and are placed in the Treasury vaults because they are too valuable to throw away, and nobody dare to claim them, because no body has any right to them. What disposition to make of them is a puzzle. Congress alone can authorize their disposition, and Congress, although asked several times to do so, has declined to take any notice of them.

A Baloon Frozen in the Air.

Says an English exchange: A danger we have never heard of as menacing an aeronant before or since, nearly proved fatal to Mr. Gypson, who made an ascent from Bedford, many years ago. When about two miles and a half above the earth, the gas was suddenly affected by a rapid and powerful expansion, so that it becam necessary to open the valve and relieve the baloon of the extreme pressure inflicted on the whole surface of the silk. But here arose an extraordinary incident—the hose of the safety valve, which had been tied up before leaving the earth, to prevent the admission of atmospheric air, was found to be frozen quite hard, so that it became impossible to extend it to allow the superfluous gas to blow off. Under these circumstances, Mr. Gypson endeavored to open the valve at the crown of the baloon, but that, too, from the peculiar description of luting with which the valve was luted, was found to be inseperately frozen. As Mr. Gypson has but one alternative, he quickly passed himself through the hoop, and, with his knife, made a large incision in the lower part of the baloon. The gas streamed forth in one continuous stream through a two-foot opening, and and the gas that had been passed into the silken globe, an invisible vapor rushed out as white as the steam from a steam engine, such was the effect of the frosty air upon it. Thus the aeronauts were rescued from the jaws of destruction, for, had not such an expedient as the knife been adopted, nothing could have prevented the silk giving way to the extreme force then acting upon it, at 3½ miles above the earth, for such was then their altitude, as shown by the sinking of the mercury in the barometer.

The Missouri father did not pursue his eloping daughter, but sent a clergyman on a swift horse to overtake the couple, in order that the marriage ceremony might be performed properly.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhoea, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. MRS WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING is pleasant ao the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle.

Troubling a Postmaster.

A lantern-jawed young man stopped at the post-office recently, and yelled out:

'Anything for the Wattses?'

George Poteet, our polite postmaster, replied, 'No, there is not.'

'Anything for Jane Watts?'

'Nothing.'

'Anything for Ace Watts?'

'No.'

'Anything for Bill Watts?'

'No, sir.'

'Anything for Tom Watts?'

'No, nothing.'

'Anything for 'Fool Joe' Watts?'

'No, nor Dick Watts, nor Jim Watts, nor Sweet Watts, nor any other Watts, dead, living, unborn, native, foreign, civilized, or uncivilized, savage or barbarious, male or female, white or black, franchised or disfranchised, naturalized or otherwise. No, there is positively nothing for any of the Wattses, either individually, severally, jointly, now and forever, one and inseparable.

The boy looked at the postmaster in astonishment, and said:

'Please look if there is anything for John Thomas Watts.'

Vegetable Balsamic

ELIXIR

For the cure of

Consumption, Coughs, Colds, Catarrh, Croup, Asthma, Hoarseness, Influenza, Spitting Blood, Bronchitis, and all diseases of the Throat, Chest, and Lungs. In all cases where this Elixir is used its efficacy is at once manifested, convincing the most incredulous that is not incurable, if properly attended to. At its commencement it is but a slight irritation of the membrane which covers the Lungs; then an inflamation, when the cough is rather dry, local fever, and the pulse more frequent, the cheeks flushed and chills more common. This Elixir in curing the above complaints, operates so as to remove all morbid irritations and inflamation from the lungs to the surface, and finally expel them from the system. It facilitates expectoration.

It heals the ulcerated surfaces and relieves the cough and makes the breathing easy. It supports the strength and at the same time reduces the fever. It is free from strong opiate and astringent articles, which are of so drying a nature as to be in great danger of destroying the patient; whereas this medicine never dries or stops the cough, but, by removing the CAUSE, consequently, when the cough is cured the patient is well. Send address for pamphlet giving full directions, free.

Price 35 cts., 50 cts., and $1.00 per bottle.
